Introduction

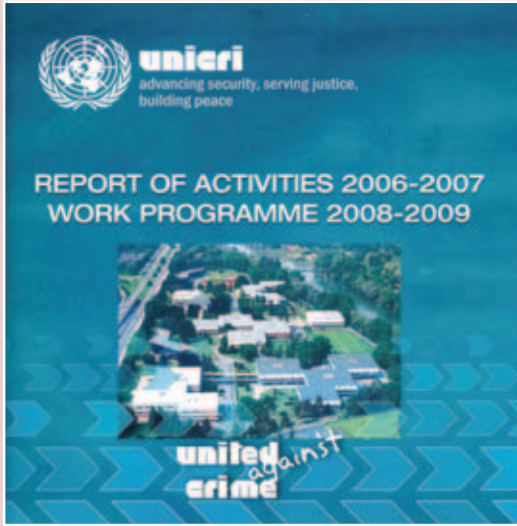

UNICRI, the United Nations Interregional Crime and Justice Research Institute, was established in 1968 to assist the international community in the field of applied research on crime prevention and criminal justice.

The Institute is located on the UN Campus in Turin and is one of the five Research and Training Institutes of the United Nations together with INSTRAW - the United Nations International Research and Training Institute for the Advancement of Women, UNITAR - the United Nations Institute for Training and Research, UNRISD - the United Nations Research Institute for Social Development, UNIDIR - the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research, that in collaboration with the UNSSC - the United Nations System Staff College, also located on the Turin campus, and UNU - the United Nations University, promotes research, training, exchange and dissemination of information.

UNICRI, through its Documentation Centre, produces and distributes its own publications. This catalogue aims to present brief notes on the latest publications issued during the last five years and the bibliographical references of the old publications which date back to 1969.

Sandro Calvani
Director

With the publication 'Report of Activities 2006-2007 Work Programme 2008-2009' we offer an overall view of the Institute and its strategy for the next biennium.

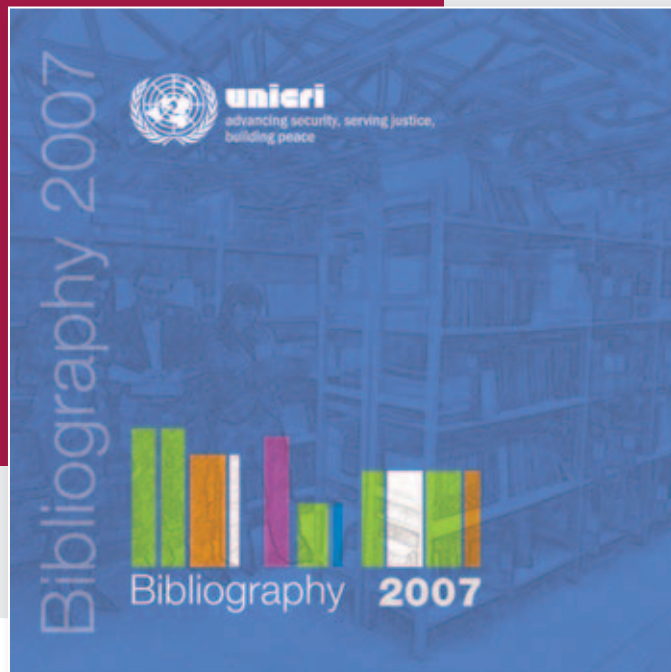

The Report includes a description of the projects carried out worldwide by the Units operating in the fields of Justice Reform, Security Governance / Counter-Terrorism, Emerging Crimes and Counter Human Trafficking.

Specific paragraphs are also devoted to the activities carried out in the fields of Documentation and Library Services, External Relations and Public Information Services and Post-Graduate Training.

The UNICRI Liaison Office, together with the Headquarters, acts as a liaison with local institutions and civil society, UN bodies and agencies.

- Part I of the publication focuses on the functions, the organizational structure, governance, direction and liaison office in Rome
- Part II deals with resources and partnership programme finance, administration, information technology, documentation and communication
- Part III highlights the applied research programme of the Institute

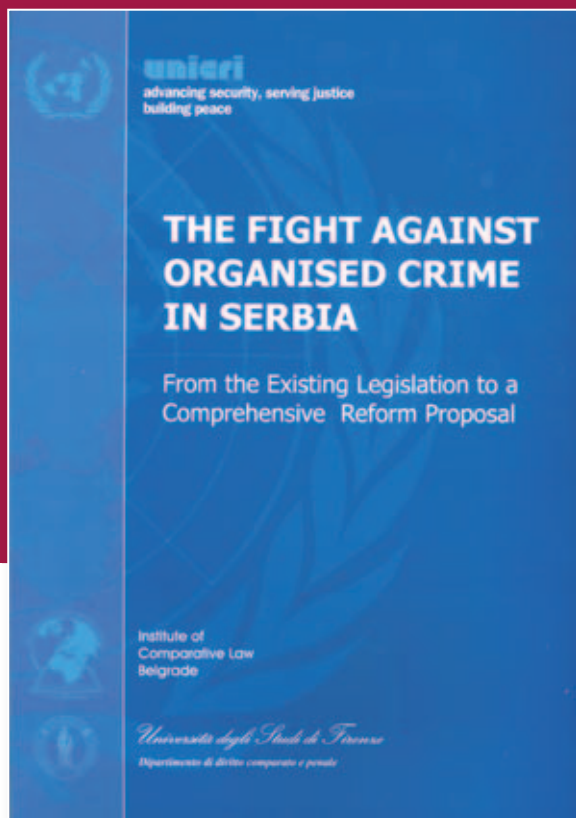

Bibliography 2007

UNICRI, Turin, 2008

'Bibliography 2007' includes a selection of publications that were acquired by the UNICRI Library in 2007. It is divided into three main categories: Crime and Crime Prevention and Criminal Justice – reflecting the two broad areas covered by the Institute – and Miscellaneous, which in turn are divided into subcategories. For each publication, bibliographical reference is given to title, author, publisher, place and year of publication, and library catalogue number. The bibliography is followed by two indexes, divided by author and title respectively.

United Nations Interregional Crime and Justice Research Institute (UNICRI), University of Florence Law School. Department of Comparative and Criminal Law, Institute of Comparative Law of Belgrade

The Fight Against Organised Crime in Serbia: From the Existing Legislation to a Comprehensive Reform Proposal

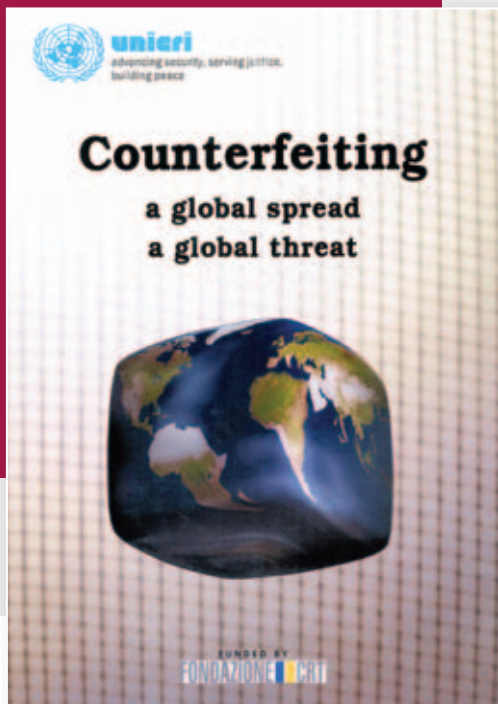

Borba protiv organizovanog kriminala u Srbiji: Od postojećeg zakonodavstva do sveobuhvatnog predloga reforme

UNICRI, Turin, 2008

The monograph, also available in Serbian, is the first comprehensive study of this kind that analyses the legal aspects of combat against organized crime and corruption in Serbia. It offers the reader a comprehensive analysis of existing legislation and problems in it, and makes proposals for reform of legislation in this field. The monograph covers substantive, procedural, as well as organizational law.

The authors of this publication are among the most renowned jurists in the field of criminal law, including both legal scholars and practitioners, such as judges. The monograph is a product of a collaboration between UNICRI, the Institute of Comparative Law in Belgrade and the Department of Comparative and Criminal Law of the University of Florence Law School.

Counterfeiting: A Global Spread a Global Threat

UNICRI, Turin, 2007

This is UNICRI's first report on counterfeiting. It presents the causes, consequences and risks of counterfeiting, explains how the distribution chain is entered illegally, and places special focus on the links between counterfeiting and organized crime, and on products that can be harmful to consumers, such as medicines, food and beverages, toys and spare parts for cars and aircrafts.

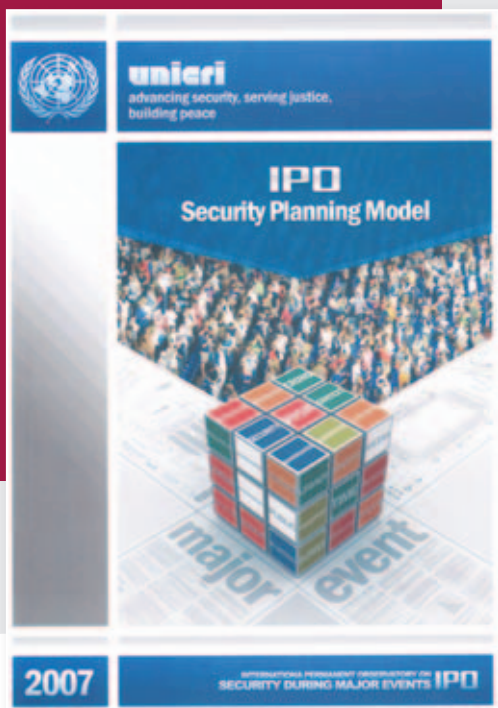

Counter-Terrorism Intelligence Cooperation in the European Union

UNICRI, Turin, 2007

Better counter-terrorism intelligence sharing within the EU is needed in order for EU decision makers to be provided with better intelligence. This report presents existing problems - political, cultural, organizational, legal and technical- in intelligence sharing and offers answers to how these problems can be resolved. It stresses the importance of using personal contacts and informal arrangements to share intelligence.

IPO Security Planning Model

UNICRI, Turin, 2007

Restricted circulation

The International Permanent Observatory (IPO) was created by UNICRI in 2003 to collect expert knowledge of security planning at past major events and use this knowledge to advise national authorities in the planning and implementation of such events. Here, the IPO presents a concise model for security planning, highlighting the main elements, strategies, linkages and challenges that need to be taken into consideration to maintain security during major events.

La Cooperación Internacional en contra de la Corrupción y el Delito Organizado Transnacional: Balance y Perspectivas

UNICRI, Turin, 2007

The publication includes both lectures presented and information exchanged during the training courses organized by UNICRI in November 2005 and February 2006 for judges and public prosecutors of Andean Countries on the international instruments against corruption and related serious crimes. The publication has been conceived as a training manual for the organization of future courses on this issue at international, regional and national level.

UNICRI, Turin, 2006

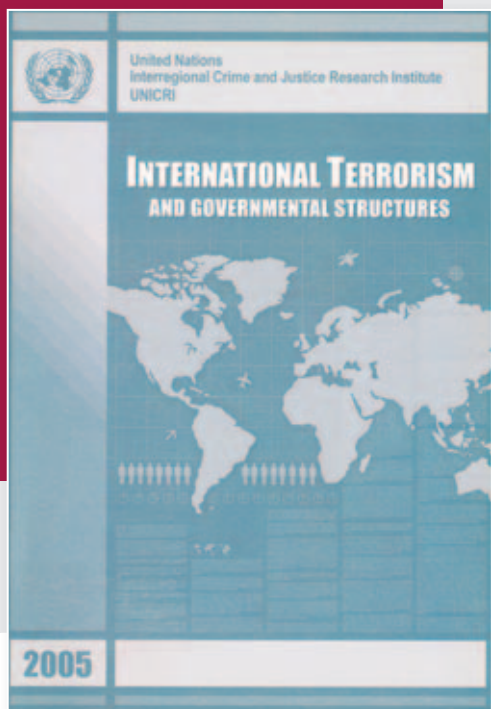

Anti-Trafficking in Human Beings to and within Peace Support Operation Areas: Building up Knowledge and Strategies for Awareness and Training

UNICRI, Turin, 2004

The manual is aimed at international police and justice administration personnel deployed - or to be deployed - in peace support operation (PSO) areas in order to ensure that they receive the knowledge and tools necessary to counter the development of organized crime and criminal networks involved in trafficking in human beings in these areas. This training programme also aims to increase the awareness of such personnel about how their presence can serve as a source of demand for victims of human trafficking.

The first edition of this manual was published in 2004. In 2006, a second edition was issued with updated bibliographies and additional annexes including new information on country profiles, new readings and relevant legislation.

International Terrorism and Governmental Structures

UNICRI, Turin, 2005

This publication is the outcome of the symposium organized by UNICRI in Florence on 21 and 22 October 2005 entitled 'International Terrorism and Governmental Structure'. It brought together international experts, practitioners and representatives of civil and political society to discuss international terrorism in the context of appropriate legal and governmental structural policies needed to effectively combat this international threat.

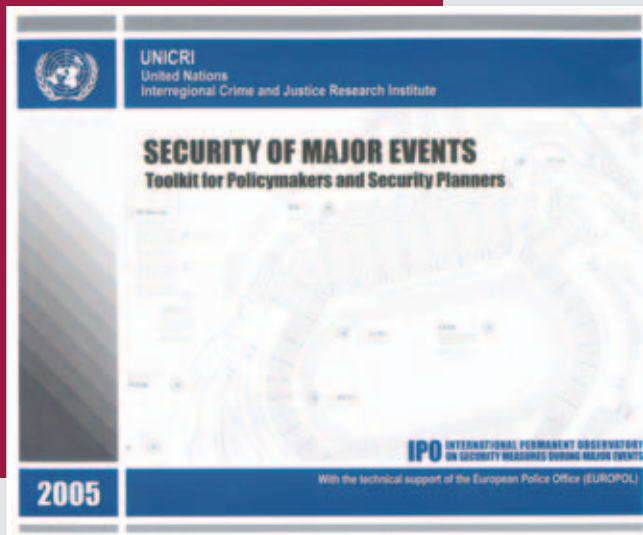

Illicit Trafficking and Criminal Use of CBRN Materials and Weapons: an Analysis of the New Members of the European Union and their Neighbouring Countries

UNICRI, Turin, 2005

Restricted circulation

The report, mainly based on information that national experts of eleven countries have provided by completing a questionnaire and participating in a workshop (Turin, April 2005), analyses the level of risk and national responses related to illicit trafficking of chemical, biological, radiological and nuclear (CBRN) materials in the new member states of the European Union and their neighbouring countries. It aims to identify gaps, risk factors and promising countermeasures at national and regional level.

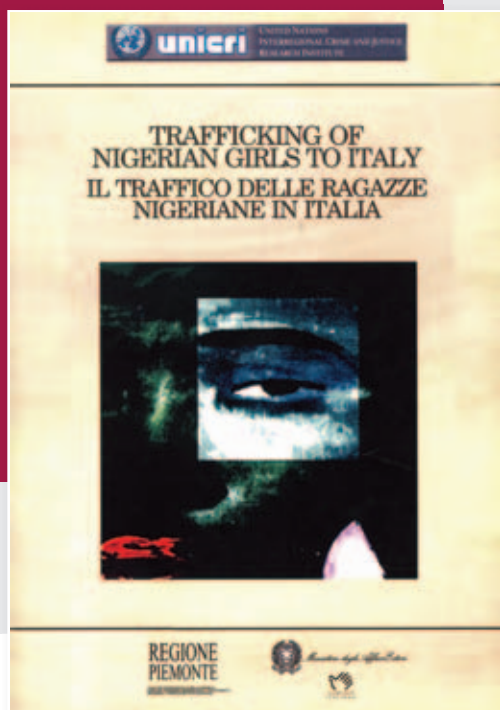

Security during Major Events: Toolkit for Policymakers and Security Planners

UNICRI, Turin, 2005

Restricted circulation

The toolkit is intended to provide a full range of instruments to the policymakers and planners who are called upon to elaborate, develop and implement the security programmes needed to host a safe and secure major event. The toolkit is based on questions that security planners need to answer when planning for major events. Its main aim is to identify threats and measures that can be taken to effectively reduce them.

Trafficking of Nigerian Girls to Italy = Il traffico delle ragazze nigeriane in Italia

UNICRI, Turin, 2004

Two research reports, available both in English and Italian, are presented on the trafficking of minors and young women from Nigeria to Italy for prostitution. Aspects covered include victim profiles, recruitment process, trafficking routes and the role and organizational system of organized criminal groups. The research activity was carried out by two research teams from the University of Benin City and the University of Turin. The main objective of the research was to sustain and increase the possibility of fighting against the criminals who manage such a phenomenon.

Trafficking in Women: The Czech Republic Perspective

IKSP, Prague, 2004

Trafficking in women for (mainly) sexual purposes takes place both to and from the Czech Republic. This report is part of the UNODC/UNICRI project 'Criminal Justice Response to Trafficking in Human Beings in the Czech Republic and Poland'. It describes how this trafficking, and recruitment for it, take place, who the victims and criminal groups involved are, and how the Czech criminal justice system deals with the crime.

Lei Do Julgado de Menores e Código de Processo do Julgado de Menores: Anotados

UNICRI, Luanda, 2004

The book argues that an innovative law adopted by the Angolan Judicial System brings to the fore the rights for the protection of minors following years of oversight. It states that this new practice represents a framework for the protection of minors according to international principles. For the realization of this project, the Angolan government has been supported by the Italian government and UNICRI.
